

Contents

Ewa Krogulec, Przemysław Bukowski, Katarzyna Niedbalska, Joanna Trzeciak, Sebastian Zabłocki Groundwater vulnerability to pollution in degraded coal mining areas: modifying the DRASTIC method using the factor of exploitation impact on land surface	313
Urszula Aleksander-Kwaterczak, Dominika Gaj, Alex Stelmach, Tomasz P. Wróbel Investigating the content of microplastics and other extraneous particles in Polish bottled water	335
The 1st National Scientific and Technical Conference “Hydroengineering, Hydromorphology, and Water and Sewage Management”	355
Tomisław Gołębiowski Theoretical aspects and numerical modelling of the GPR method to analyse its possibilities for the detection of leakages in urban water supply networks	357
Agnieszka Brzezińska, Łukasz Wiankowski Pollution load assessment in the form of TSS and COD emitted from an urbanized catchment in the aspect of administrative pollutant discharge fees on the example of the activity of the J1 CSO in Lodz (Poland)	375
Grażyna Sakson Analysis of suspended solids emissions from a combined sewage system using the Stormwater Management Model (SWMM)	389
Anna Szafarczyk, Rafał Gawalkiewicz An inventory of opencast mining excavations recultivated in the form of water reservoirs as an example of activities increasing the retention potential of the natural environment: a case study from Poland	401
INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE AUTHORS	419
LIST OF THE REVIEWERS	421